IUL vs Roth IRA vs 401(k) — Which gives you more flexibility?

EXAMPLE CLIENT

Which Strategy Gives You More Flexibility?

Most Americans save for retirement through a 401(k) or Roth IRA.

However, an Indexed Universal Life (IUL) policy can provide retirement income, life insurance protection, and access to money during your lifetime. The right strategy depends on your goals.

Age: 35

Retirement at 65

$300/mo

Monthly contribution

$108,000

Total invested over 30 years

The question is not just how much money you accumulate...

It's how much you get to keep and access when you need it.

The Traditional 401(k)

A foundational retirement vehicle for millions of Americans — but with important limitations to understand.

Advantages

- Employer Match
- Tax Deduction Today
- Easy Payroll Contributions

Potential Concerns

- Taxable Income In Retirement
- Subject To Market Losses
- Required Minimum Distributions (RMDs)
- Limited Access Before Retirement Age

You may pay taxes later on a much larger account balance.

 ROTH IRA

Roth IRA

A powerful tax-advantaged account — excellent for retirement growth, but not a complete financial strategy.

Tax-Free Growth

Qualified withdrawals are completely tax-free in retirement

No RMDs

No Required Minimum Distributions — keep your money growing longer

IRS Limits

Annual contribution limits and income restrictions apply

No Protection

No life insurance, no living benefits, no legacy planning built in

 Great retirement account, but not a complete financial strategy.

Indexed Universal Life (IUL)

An IUL combines permanent life insurance with tax-advantaged cash value growth, offering a comprehensive financial strategy that goes beyond traditional retirement accounts.

✓ An IUL is designed to provide both protection and accumulation.

Example: Age 35 | $300/mo | 30 Years | $108,000 Total

- Lifetime Death Benefit Protection

What Happens During A Market Crash?

The goal isn't to beat the market every year. The goal is to avoid losing years of retirement savings.

1

401(k)

2

Roth IRA

Market Drops 30% → Your account may lose significant value with no floor protection

3

IUL

Market Drops 30% → Your credited interest = 0%. You do not participate in the loss.

Retirement Income Example

Hypothetical Scenario: Age 65 | Supplemental Retirement Income Need: $2,000 Per Month

401(k)

- Taxable Withdrawals
- Possible Market Volatility

Roth IRA

- Tax-Free Withdrawals
- Subject To Contribution Limits During Accumulation

IUL
